

Emerging Treats, Security Culture and How to Protec your Organization from Cybercriminals – Thursday, July 21 at 3:30 PM

Spencer Nebel – Facilitator

Bio: James R. McQuiggan, CISSP, SACP

James McQuiggan has over 20 years of experience in cybersecurity. He is currently a Security Awareness Advocate for KnowBe4, where he is responsible for amplifying the organization's messaging related to the importance of, effectiveness of and the need for new-school security awareness training within organizations through social media, webinars, in-person presentations, industry trade shows and traditional media outlets. Within the Central Florida community, McQuiggan is a part-time Faculty Professor at Valencia College in the Engineering, Computer Programming & Technology division.

Additionally, he is the President of the Central Florida (ISC)2 Chapter and a Trustee Board member with the Center for Cyber Safety and Education. McQuiggan previously worked as a product & solution security officer, information security analyst and a network security engineer for Siemens, where he consulted and supported various corporate divisions on cybersecurity standards, information security awareness and securing product networks.